Gellman Images Releases Documentary of Roosevelt, New Jersey Featuring Undiscovered Movie Footage of Albert Einstein and Eleanor Roosevelt.

Freehold, NJ – The Jewish Heritage Museum of Monmouth County and Gellman Images, will be premiering the documentary Life in Roosevelt: A Tapestry of the Jewish-American Dream - with historical footage of Albert Einstein and Eleanor Roosevelt walking among the residents of the small Jewish community of Jersey Homesteads (later known as Roosevelt, NJ) - on Sunday, October 20, 2024 at 4pm.

“Working on this project has been incredible,” Filmmaker Gary Gellman said. “Uncovering a small, yet heartfelt and impactful Jewish community and discovering historical footage of great leaders such as Albert Einstein and Eleanor Roosevelt has been a highlight of my career.”

Life in Roosevelt: A Tapestry of the Jewish-American Dream is an oral history project of the Jewish Heritage Museum of Monmouth County about the history and first-person accounts of living in Roosevelt, New Jersey. This community was created under Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal initiatives and was the only agro-industrial community created for urban Jewish immigrants.

Jewish Heritage Museum of Monmouth County is located at 310 Mounts Corner Dr, Freehold Township located in the Mounts Corner Shopping Center.
